1976 A Review of The Season

April

- April 10 Pirates tie game in 9th as Parker bowls over Oates, putting the catcher out of action for 7 weeks with broken left collarbone. Pirates score unearned run in 11th to take season opener for both clubs, 5-4.
- April 14 Lonborg 6-hits Expos, 8-2, for Phils first win and first for Jim since July 23rd of a year ago.
- April 17 The game that got the Phillies started. Trailing the host Cubs, 12-1 and 13-2, Schmidt hit four consecutive home runs to lead the Phillies to an 18-16, 10-inning win. Schmidt drove in eight runs becoming the first NL player to hit four consecutive homers in a game since Bob Lowe of Boston did it May 30, 1894.
- April 18 Phils beat Burris for first time after five straight defeats, 8-5. Schmidt hits #6.
- April 20 Kaat wins first NL game, doubling in a pair in 5-1 victory at Pittsburgh. Schmidt hits #7, tying major league record with 6 HRs in three consecutive games.
- April 21 Schmidt unloads #8; Underwood (5 IP) and McGraw (4 IP) blank Bucs, 3-0.
- April 24 Luzinski hits first major league grand slam in 10-5 romp over Braves. Reliever Reed picks up first win in Phils uniform. Club is 6-4.
- April 26 Schmidt homers twice—9 in last 8 games—as Phils out-slug Reds, 10-9.
- April 28 Boone's 3-run homer, super relief work by Schueler and Garber and Phils beat Reds, 7-6. Bowa bumps rookie umpire Quick during argument and gets 3-game suspension. Schmidt finishes April with record-tying 11 homers.

May

- May 1 First doubleheader win, 3-0 (Carlton getting first win) and 4-2 in Atlanta. Schmidt hammers #12.
- May 2 Bowa (suspended), Allen and Luzinski (injured) missing from lineup but Phils coast, 8-2, over Braves for seventh straight road victory. Harmon does stick-out job at shortstop.
- May 4 Lonborg runs record to 3-0, with 5-0 shutout over Houston as Phillies take first over Mets.
- May 5 Grand slam #2 for the Phillies, this one a game-winner from Tolan in 6-3 defeat of Astros.
- May 8 Super relief by Garber (4 IP, 1 H, 0 R) and Phils are victorious, 6-4, ending Dodgers' 12-game winning streak. Luzinski homers into 5th level above the scoreboard.
- May 9 Lonborg loses perfect game when Buckner doubles with one out in the 7th but posts fourth straight, 10-3. "That's the best six I've ever watched from a pitching standpoint," said Hall of Famer Robin Roberts. Phils take 1st place for good, .039 ahead of N.Y.
- May 11 Carlton six-hits Padres, 9-1. Schmidt hits #13.
- May 12 Phillies blanked for first time in 55 games, 4-0, by Jones.
- May 14 Christenson wins third, 5-1, in Astrodome.
- May 15 Great catch by Martin ends game as Phils and Lonborg (5-0) are 2-1 winners over Astros. Allen back on active list after 15-day stint with right shoulder problems.
- May 16 Bombs away! A 12-2 breeze in Houston. 3 RBI for Maddox.
- May 18 Phillies win club record 11th in row on the road, 2-1, at NY. Garber and Underwood star in relief. Phils are 18-5 since big comeback win in Chicago on April 17th.
- May 20 14th win in 16 games, 5-3, over Seaver, Lonborg picking up 6th victory. Schmidt and Kingman each hit #15 as HR race continues.
- May 21 Maddox' 2-run homer in second is all Carlton needs in 2-1 verdict over Cardinals.
- May 23 Shutout relief work by Garber and McGraw set the stage for 3-2, 11-inning win. Hrabosky forces in winning run by walking Bowa with the bases loaded and two out.
- May 24 7-1 over Mets for 23rd win in last 29 games. Christenson (5-1) loses shutout in the 9th.
- May 25 Lonborg (6-0) beats Seaver, 8-4, for second time in last six days. Hutton goes 2-for-2 to raise lifetime average against Seaver to .424.
- May 26 Carlton (5-1) 3-hits Mets, 5-0, beating Matlack. Brown and Luzinski homer. "This club can do anything," exclaims Carlton.
- May 28 6-run second sends Phils on way to 10-3 breeze over Expos. Reed (3-1) pitches 5 shutout relief innings for the win.
- May 29 Leading league with .292 average, Phils dump Expos, 6-1, as Christenson runs record to 6-1.

May 30

Bowa's bases-loaded triple keys 6-run seventh which carries Phillies to 7-1 victory over Montreal. Lonborg now 8-0. Lonnie, Carlton and Christenson have combined for 18 straight wins.

May 31

7-5 loss to Cubs followed by 4-1 victory. Phillies finish May with club record for one month, 22-5. Their 30-11, .732 pct., start is best in NL since Brooklyn Dodgers were 32-11, .744, through May of 1955. Club holds down first place on June 1st for third time in its history.

June

- June 1 Reed starts, beats Cubs, 6-1, in 6-inning game cut short by rain. Oates back on active list.
- June 2 13th straight road victory as Underwood 5-hits Cardinals, 4-1. 25th win in last 30 games.
- June 3 Road happiness ends, 7-1, in St. Louis.
- June 4 Lonborg drops 1st, 5-1, in S.F., the first time the Phils have lost two straight since April 10-11.
- June 6 3-game losing streak ends with 9-3 win over Giants, Kaat driving in three runs with three hits.
- June 7 Bowa's 2-run single delivers winning runs in 8-6 victory in L.A. Garber pitches four innings for 5th save.
- June 8 20-hit attack buries LA, 14-2, behind Christenson (7-2). Asked to compare Reds and Phils, loser Tommy John: "That's like trying to compare the hydrogen bomb and the atom bomb, they both kill."
- June 10 Phils take series from Dodgers, 3 games to one, with 10-6 win.
- June 11 Kaat runs record to 5-2 with 4-2 win in S.D.
- June 12 Hutton's 2-run double in 15th gives Phils 3-2 win. Pirates second by 8½.
- June 15 Maddox drives in four runs, runs hitting streak to 10 games in 10-2 romp over Giants.
- June 16 Kaat wins 4th straight in 4-hitting Giants, 4-1. Allen homers, drives in four runs.

- June 17 Christenson injures back as Phillies rally for 3-2 decision over S.F.
- June 18 "It was the greatest play I've ever seen a shortstop make," said Ozark of Bowa's sensational play in the hole on Perez in the 9th. Bowa took sure hit from Perez before Foster followed with solo homer but Reds fell short, 6-5.
- June 20 Bases loaded, no outs and Reed relieves Kaat with 4-1 lead in the 6th. Reed fans Perez and Bench and gets Griffey on fly ball. Phils add two more for 6-1 win, 42nd in last 57 games.
- June 21 Expos fall, 8-3, to Underwood.
- June 23 Garber records 7th save in 4-2 win at Riverfront.
- June 24 Phillies run record vs. Reds to 6-2 with 5-4 win, increasing lead to 9½ games. Kaat wins sixth in a row.
- June 25 Allen homers twice, Phils bat around for 18th time in trouncing Cardinals, 12-4.
- June 27 Boone's grand slam (Phils 3rd) sends division leaders to 6-2 win over Cards. "My dad hit 8 slams. This is my first. I guess it proves it's not hereditary," quipped Boone.
- June 28 Maddox drives in half the runs, Carlton wins 7th, 6-2, in Montreal.
- June 29 Perfect suicide squeeze by Boone provides Phils with 2-1 win over Expos. Phillies go into July 30 games above .500, 50-20, with 9½ game lead.

July

- July 2 Allen hits slam (Phils 4th) in 10-9 loss in Pittsburgh.
- July 3 Schmidt singles and Cash slides between Sanguillen's legs with winning run in 9th inning, 3-2.
- July 4 Phils win 10-5 and then bow, 7-1. McCarver hits apparent grand slam in opener but passes Maddox on the bases for 3-run single.
- July 9-10-11 After losing 3-game set to LA, Phils sweep four from Padres. Club takes 10-game lead into All-Star break. Carlton fans Winfield in 9th inning, 1st game, July 10, for 2,000th career strikeout.
- July 15 Carlton wins fifth straight for 2nd time, 5-3, in SF. McCarver drives in three.
- July 18 Dodgers mess up run-down play in 9th, Phillies score a run for a 2-1 victory.
- July 19 Lead upped to 11 games as Phillies tally three in 9th to beat Hooton for first time since 9/6/74, 5-3 in LA.
- July 21 Hutton's 3-run homer helps Kaat win 10th, 5-1, in SD.
- July 22 Three runs in the first is all Underwood (8 IP) and Reed (1 IP) need in blanking Pirates, 3-0. Bucs 11 behind.
- July 23 Lonborg posts 12th win, 11-1 romp over Pirates to increase pad to dozen games.

- July 24 Pirates win opener, 8-5, but Carlton 3-hits them in nightcap, 7-1, before 57,723, largest crowd ever to see the two teams play.
- July 25 Brown's grand slam (Phils 5th) caps 6-run 8th which gives Phillies a 13-7 win and a 13-game lead. Four-day series draws 178,585.
- July 26 Three, 1-hit relief innings by McGraw (save #6) and Phillies beat Mets, 4-1. Lead goes to 13½ games, largest of the year.
- July 29 McCarver's 11th inning single wins game, 3-2, over Cubs. Phils average 41,313 for 14 July home dates.
- July 31 Two-run double by Oates pins Phils' third loss of year on Matlack, 2-1.

August

- August 1 Luzinski belts Phils 6th grand slam; Johnstone scores from first on Maddox' hit in the 11th, Phils prevail, 7-6. Twitchell gets 1st start in second game at NY. He (7 IP) and Schueler (2 IP) blank Mets, 2-0.
- August 3 After 4-0 loss, Maddox hits Phils 7th slam in 8-5 victory in Chicago doubleheader.
- August 4 Schmidt belts two more (#28-29) in Wrigley, including 2-run, game-winning shot, 7-5. Garber picks up 6th win.
- August 5 Twitchell comes out of pen to get win, 5-2, in rain-abbreviated, 8-inning game in St. Louis.
- August 8 Martin's sacrifice fly off Hrabosky in 9th gives Phils a 3-2 win.
- August 11 Underwood picks up 7th win, Reed 10th save in 4-1 decision over Braves. Lead increased to 14½.
- August 14 Carlton breezes to 14th win, 13-2, over SF. 3 hits each for Tolan, Maddox, Johnstone, Bowa.
- August 17 Johnstone cracks four hits, drives in five as Phillies bury Expos, 11-3.
- August 18 5-run third, the club's 25th bat-around, sends Phils to 5-4 win over Expos. Lonborg's 13th win, Reed's 11th save.
- August 19 Johnstone gets four hits again to raise average to league-leading .344 as Carlton wins 15th, 7-1, over Houston.
- August 21 Phils become 10th club to reach 2 million in attendance, and Houston bows, 7-4. 3 hits apiece for Johnstone and Maddox.
- August 22 Underwood goes route for second straight time, 5-1, against Astros.
- August 23 Lead back to 14½ as Phils score 4 times in 8th to win 4-2 in Atlanta. Record is 40 above .500, 81-41.
- August 24 Led by Tolan's 5 RBI, Blitz Kids demolish Messersmith, 14-3, to take 15½ game lead. Carlton wins 6th straight.
- August 26 Another thriller with the Reds and Phils come out on top, 5-4, in 13 innings. As September rolls around, Phils lead by 10½ with 32 games left.

September

- Sept. 5 Christenson stops Phils' 8-game losing streak, hitting two homers in 3-1 triumph at New York.
- Sept. 9 Back home finally after disastrous 4-12 road trip. Lonborg pitches complete game in stopping Cubs, 4-2. Idle Pirates trail by 5 games.
- Sept. 12 Hitting slump broken. 13-hit attack backs shutout pitching of Christenson and McGraw as Cubs fall, 8-0. 4 game lead.
- Sept. 13 Schmidt blasts #34-35 as Carlton wins 17th, 7-2, over Expos. 5 game lead.
- Sept. 14 3rd straight win, 3-2, against Expos. 16th win for Lonborg, 14th save for Reed. Pirates lose again, trail by 6.
- Sept. 18 Carlton fans 11 for 18th win, 4-1, at Chicago. Lead down to four again.
- Sept. 21 Allen and Schmidt homer in 5-1 home victory over Cardinals. Magic number reduced to eight.
- Sept. 22 Biggest inning of year, eight in the 8th, carries Phils to 9-4 decision vs. Cards. Brilliant relief from Schuler, Twitchell, Reed, Garber, McGraw, who combined for 3 hits, 0 runs in 9.2 innings pitched.
- Sept. 23 Carlton breezes to 19th, 7-3, over ex-mates. Magic number now five.
- Sept. 24 Phils split pair in Montreal while Pirates divide two in St. Louis. Magic number reduced to three.
- Sept. 25 Bullpen does it again as Phils clinch tie, 6-5 in Montreal. Reliever Twitchell gets the win, Garber the save.
- Sept. 26 PHILLIES WIN PENNANT!!! Lonborg pitches 4-hitter for 17th win, Luzinski unloads 3-run pennant winning homer as Phils dump Expos 4-1. Phils win nightcap, the last game in Montreal's Jarry Park, 2-1, Schueler picking up his first decision.

October

- Oct. 9 Phillies take 1-0 first-inning lead but Reds storm back with a run in the 2nd, two in the 6th and three in the 8th for 6-3 victory in opening playoff game.
- Oct. 10 65,651, largest playoff crowd ever, see Phils jump to 2-0 lead and Lonborg no-hitter for five innings. Big Red Machine erupts for four in 6th and a 6-2 triumph.
- Oct. 12 In one of the most exciting playoff games, Phillies jump to lead again, 3-0, after 6½ innings. Reds get foursome again in 7th but Phillies rally behind hitting of Schmidt and Johnstone to go up, 6-4, as Reds bat for last time. Foster and Bench each homer to tie the game. Griffey's bases-loaded infield single gives Reds another N.L. championship.

All This And Baseball Too!

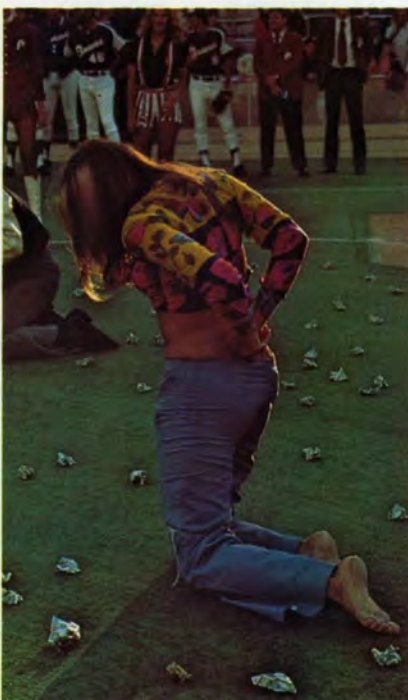

The Philadelphia Phillies like to think that one of the most pleasant ways to spend an afternoon or evening is to come out to Veterans Stadium and watch the Phillies play baseball.

It really doesn't matter if the Phillies win or lose because there is something for everyone who sets foot inside the Vet.

The first thing to hit a fan's eyes upon entering the ballpark is the beautiful artificial playing surface. A virtual sea of green rimmed by an attractive new warning track, this field is the stage for one of the best entertainment bargains in sports, major league baseball.

As you move to your seats, the next thing to catch the attention of many fans is the lovely lady dressed in red and white whose job it is to take fans to their seats. She's a member of the popular "Hot Pants Patrol," one of the prime attractions at the Vet since the Stadium opened in 1971.

Now that you've made it to your seat, sit back and enjoy some of the most imaginative pre-game shows in all of sports. Tonight it might be Kiteman, or Rocketman, the Great Wallenda, the Cash Scramble, Celebrity Sports Night, a Mattress Stacking Contest, Crazy Night, etc.

There also are many days during the season when a youngster entering the ballpark receives an added treat besides a ballgame. It might be a warm-up jacket, a T-Shirt, team jersey, batting helmet or one of the other giveaway items designed to bring a gleam to the eye of every young baseball fan.

The mummers, famous choirs and bands, pop music stars, the organ music of Paul Richardson, the dancing waters in centerfield, all add up to the complete atmosphere that is Veterans Stadium.

Yes, a trip down Broad Street to see a baseball game is much more than nine innings of watching the exciting 1977 Phillies do battle with the best teams in baseball.

It's a total experience of color, sound and excitement. All of which makes Veterans Stadium the "in-spot" for each and every Philadelphia summer.

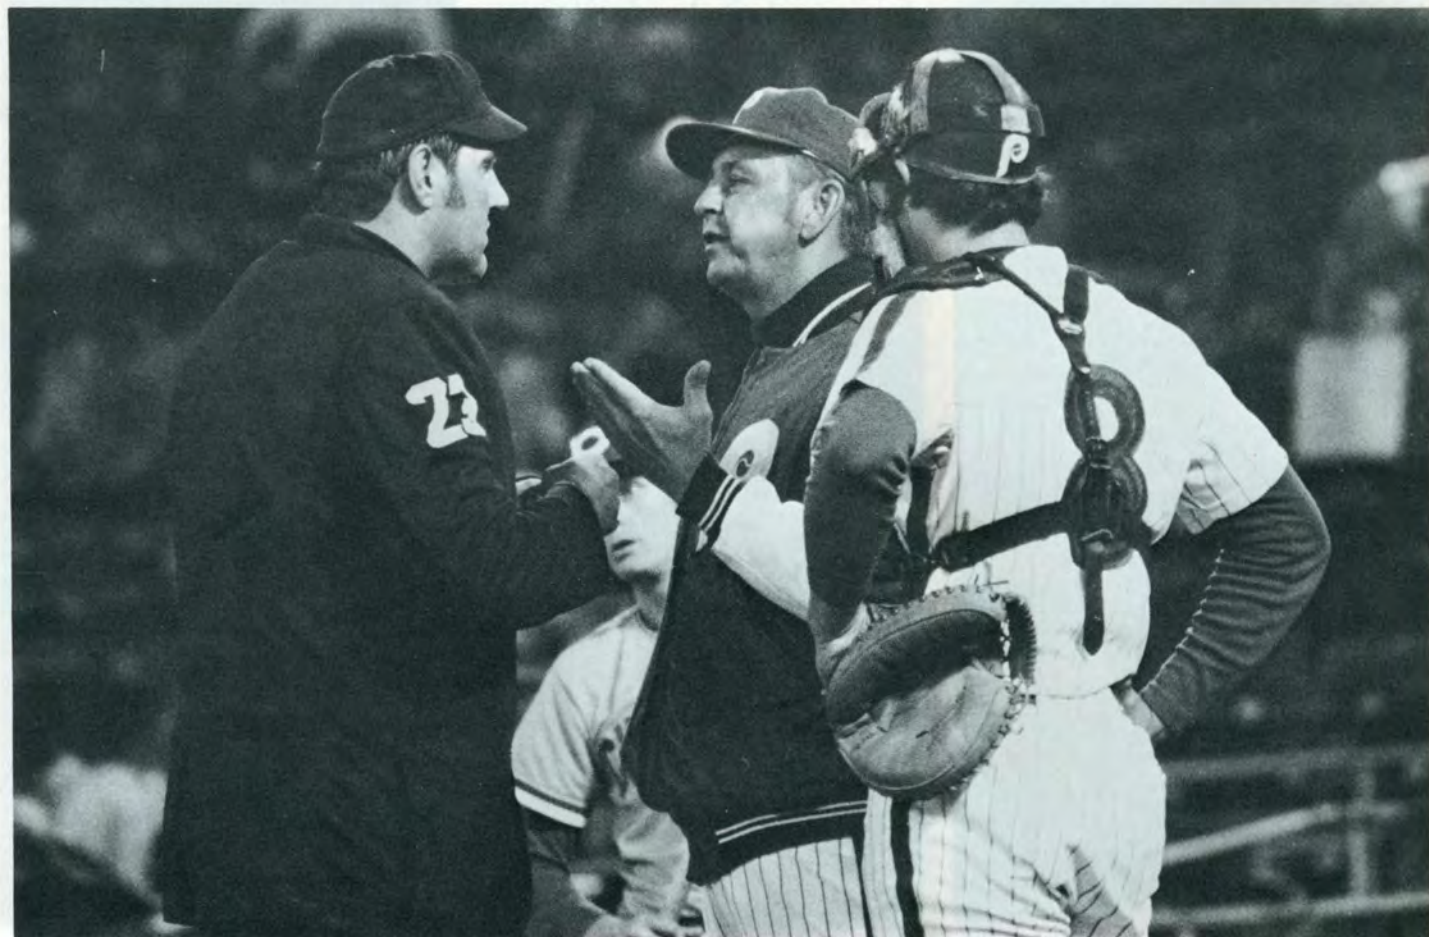

T

Danny Ozark

Danny Ozark, 1976 National League Manager of the Year. The same Danny Ozark who was fired by various members of the news media in 1975 and whose every move was placed under a microscope by the same critics early in 1976. But when the Phillies went into their late season tail spin, it was Danny Ozark who held the ballclub together by keeping his cool while panic was engulfing some of the people around him. When the season ended, Ozark had led the Phillies to 101 wins, the most ever by a National League Eastern Division champion and was named the league's top skipper by THE SPORTING NEWS, Associated Press and United Press International. A "Triple Crown" sweep by one of baseball's nicest men for a job well done.

The Coaches

DeMars

Rippelmeyer

The Phillies boast a coaching staff that has been together longer than any other group in the National League, and this year will add a popular fifth member. Entering his ninth year with the Phillies, Billy DeMars is one of the senior coaches in the league. Only Junior Gilliam, Joe Pignatano and Rube Walker have been with the same club longer than Billy. Billy is the Phillies third base coach and well respected among the ballplayers as a hitting instructor.

Another veteran coach is Ray Rippelmeyer entering his eighth year as the Phillies pitching instructor. One of baseball's hardest working coaches, "Rip" is a firm believer in conditioning so Philadelphia pitchers will do as much running as any group of pitchers in baseball.

A 12-year major league veteran, Bobby Wine is a very astute baseball man. Having played all his years in the majors while Gene Mauch was the manager of the Phillies and Expos, "Wino" is an expert at setting infield defenses.

When Danny Ozark came East from Los Angeles to manage the Phillies, he brought with him a very nice man named Carroll Beringer. "C.B." as he is known to those around the Phillies, is the man who handles the delicate chore of bullpen co-ordinator.

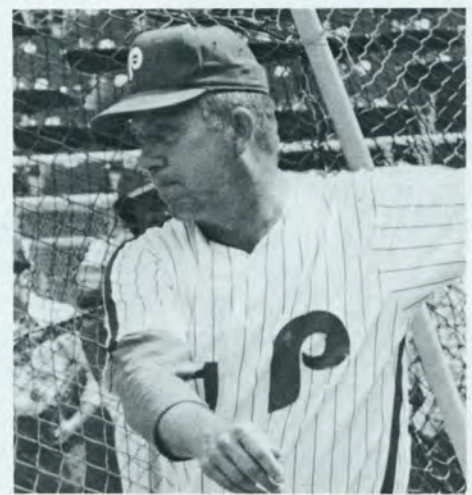

The newest member of the staff is one of Philadelphia's best-known and well-liked athletes, Tony Taylor. Tony, who retired last year after a 20-year career, is expected to lend his vast knowledge of the game and help in various stages of instruction within the organization at all levels.

BOW

He's the master of the one-liner. The type of guy who has a reply for anything, always delivered in that same machine gun, rapid-fire style that he brings to the baseball diamond. Larry Bowa is the epitome of the "man-child," a skilled athlete who probably would play the game he loves more than anything in the world for nothing. He's one of baseball's great success stories going from free agent to All-Star to one of the Phillies most exciting and popular players.

Larry Bowa

SCHMITTY

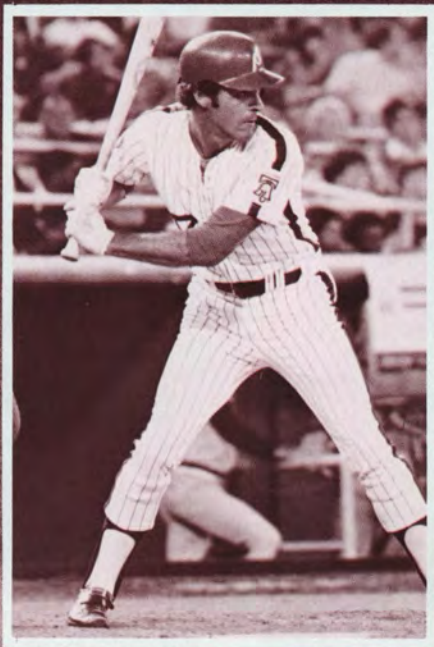

The story goes that the really good major league players normally have their most productive years after they turn 27 or 28. Mike Schmidt is 27 years old and coming off three consecutive seasons where he has led the major leagues in home runs. So what does the big redhead from Dayton, Ohio, do for an encore? Probably just what he has been doing for the past three years. He'll continue making himself into one of baseball's finest all-round players and the best third baseman in the game.

Mike Schmidt

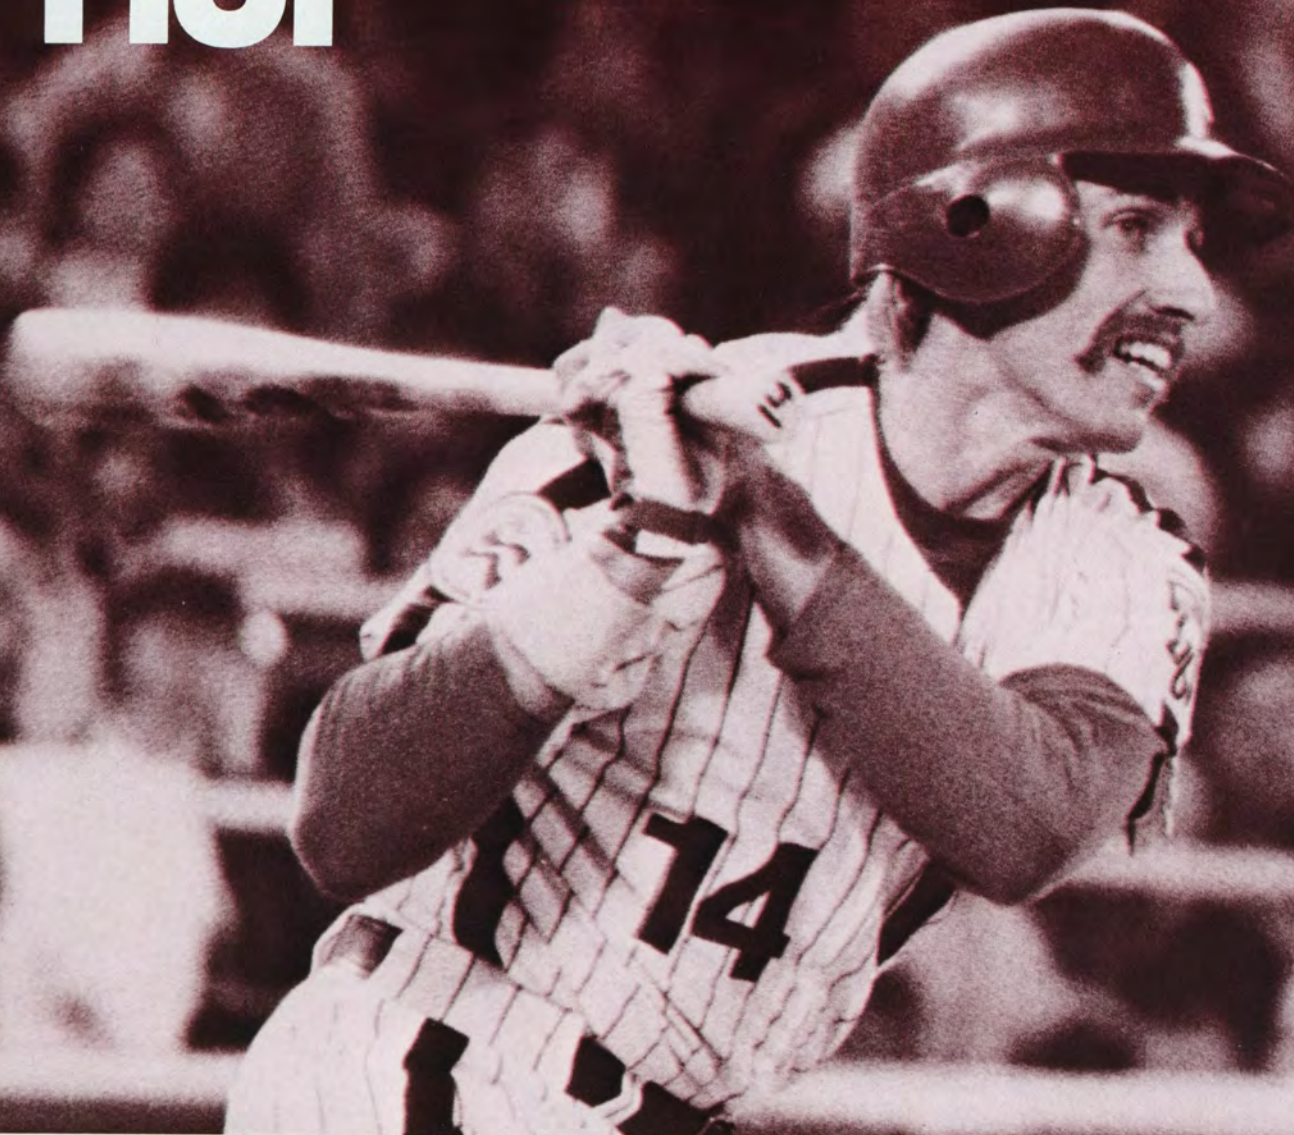

HARM

Who's the player who has been with the Phillies for the longest continuous period of service? The answer of course is Terry Harmon, Mr. Versatile of the Phillies. Terry can play third, short or second and while he doesn't see a whole lot of playing time, he's always ready to do the job. Take that weekend in Atlanta last year after Larry Bowa had been suspended. Harmon stepped right in and played flawless shortstop and knocked in two runs. Just par for the course for a really valuable member of the Phillies.

Terry Harmon

HUT

Tommy Hutton is in his fifth season as one of the most important members of the Phillies. One of baseball's best pinch hitters with a lifetime .313 average, Tommy is regarded as one of baseball's finest defensive first basemen, something he proves everytime he is called upon. In 1976, the Pasadena, California, native hit .263 as a pinch hitter and had four game winning RBI. Hutton would like to play more but has accepted his role as a spot player and always is ready to play when Danny Ozark looks his way.

Tommy Hutton

GARRY

Sometimes it's hard to pinpoint the reason why a certain player becomes popular in a city. However in the case of Garry Lee Maddox, that problem does not exist. Garry Maddox is exciting. From the minute his long legs carry his wiry frame across the white lines onto the baseball diamond, Maddox goes full-speed every minute. The fastest player on the Phillies, Garry specializes in the spectacular catch while roaming centerfield, or burning up the bases en route to a .330 season.

Garry Maddox

THE BULL

Take a poll of the players in the Phillies clubhouse and it probably would be unanimous that the man they want at the plate in a clutch situation is Greg Luzinski. "The Bull" is a quiet guy who keeps to himself and lets his bat do the talking. So for veteran Phillie watchers, it came as no surprise that when the Phillies won the Eastern Division title last September in Montreal, Greg Luzinski blasted the three run homer that proved to be the game winner. We've come to expect it from Greg Luzinski.

Greg Luzinski

RICHIE

Paul Owens says everytime the Pittsburgh Pirates were in Philadelphia he would look out of his office on the fourth level of Veterans Stadium and see one player out on the field before everybody else. That guy was Richie Hebner, so when the Pirate third baseman played out his option last year and became a free agent, Owens decided to try and sign the Massachusetts native. Hebner agreed to terms with the Phillies . . . said that he can't wait to play in Philadelphia and is eager to make the transition from third to first. The Phillies are happy to have him in town; only this time in a red and white uniform.

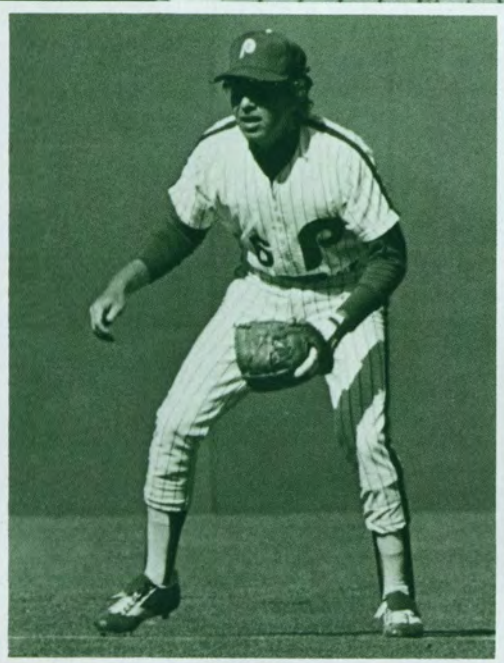

Richie Hebner

TED

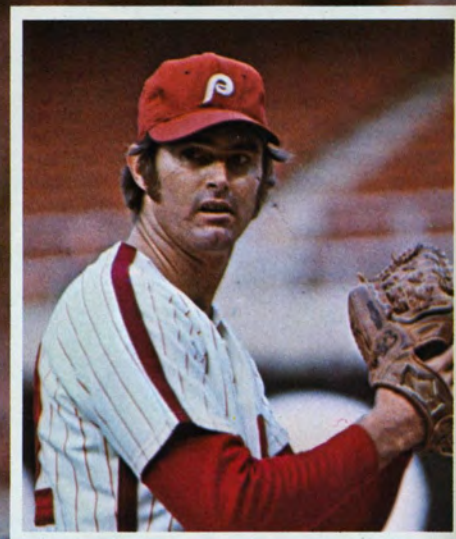

One of the great sports trivia questions 50 years from now will be who was the number two batter when Lou Brock broke Maury Wills' stolen base record in 1974. The batter was Ted Sizemore, then of the St. Louis Cardinals and now a member of the Phillies following a December deal between the Phillies and Dodgers. Ted gives the Phillies infield versatility. He is a fine second baseman who will help fill that position and is a guy who can make contact with the ball as proven by his .264 lifetime average.

Ted Sizemore

LEFTY

Steve Carlton's return to form as a 20-game winner in 1976 came as no surprise to those who watched him last spring. "Lefty" reported to Clearwater in excellent condition and threw the ball very well during the exhibition season. Steve turned in one of the finest performances of his career when he beat the Mets 2-1 on the final day of the season, giving up just three hits and striking out 12 as he picked up win number 20.

Steve Carlton

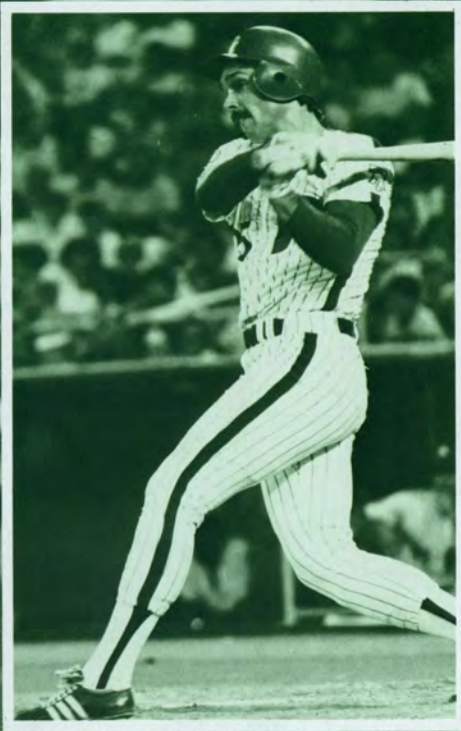

LONNIE

Montreal first baseman Earl Williams swung and missed and a lot of guys in red and blue uniforms began jumping all over Jim Lonborg. "Lonnie," one of the most popular Phillies, had just pitched the Phillies to the Eastern Division championship. In a year that began full of uncertainty because of some physical problems in 1975, this was his 18th win of the '76 campaign. One of baseball's fiercest competitors, Jim fared well during the off-season in ABC-TV's Superstars competition.

Jim Lonborg

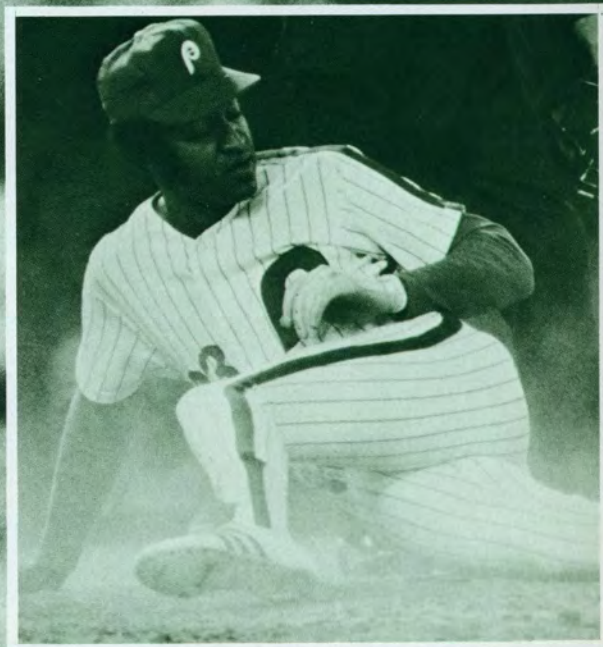

JERRY

It's hard to believe that a player could get into 130 games and pick up only 121 at bats, but that's exactly what happened to Jerry Martin in 1976. Martin spent a frustrating season serving as a late inning replacement for Greg Luzinski, but accepted the role knowing he was helping the team. A fine outfielder with great running speed and an above average throwing arm, Martin wants to play more and hopes to push some of the other outfielders on the team for more playing time in 1977.

Jerry Martin

O.B.

Ollie Brown

July 25, 1976, the Phillies were playing the Pirates at Veterans Stadium. The Phillies had scored a run in the 8th to go ahead and the bases were loaded with relief ace Dave Giusti on the mound. The count to Ollie Brown went to 3-2 before the big outfielder lived up to his nickname of "Downtown" and sent a screaming line drive into the left field seats for a grand slam that insured a big win for the Phillies. Ollie Brown has been that type of player for the Phillies since coming here in 1974. A quiet guy who just gets the job done.

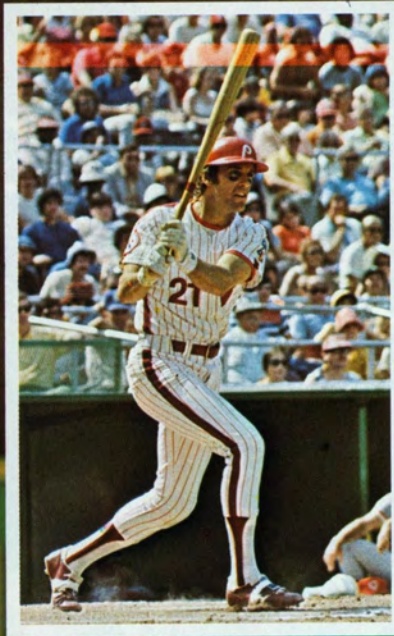

BOONIE

There is an old axiom that hard work always pays off in the end. In the case of Bob Boone that old theory turned out to be 100% accurate because nobody worked harder prior to the 1976 season than "Boonie." As a result, Bob got off to a fast start and was hitting .340 at the end of May and had surpassed his entire RBI production of 1975 by June 6th. Boone also was selected to the 1976 NL All-Star Team, more proof that the time he put in last winter was time well spent.

Every team has a player who can never get enough batting practice, a guy who always is swinging a bat. In Jay Johnstone, the Phillies may have baseball's all-time batting practice hitter and who's to argue with success. In the past two seasons, flakey Jay has hit .329 and .318 and a scorching .778 in the playoffs, and he credits it to all the extra hitting he has taken. Nobody in baseball takes more batting practice than Jay Johnstone and he has warned the Phillies coaching staff to get their arms ready for a lot of pre-game throwing again this year.

BAKE

"McBride is comparable to the Maddox deal. He hasn't reached his potential. He's a .300 plus hitter, has great speed and is an excellent leadoff hitter," announced Paul Owens after he sent Tommy Underwood and two minor leaguers to the Cardinals for this fleet centerfielder plus a young pitcher in mid-June. "He adds a new dimension. You have to have speed. I think Cincinnati has proved this with guys like Griffey. It puts pressure on the defense," continued the Phils V.P. McBride has been with the Cardinals for four years and has topped the .300 mark each time. Going into the 1977 season, his lifetime average was .311 with 66 stolen bases.

"Bake" McBride

BARRY

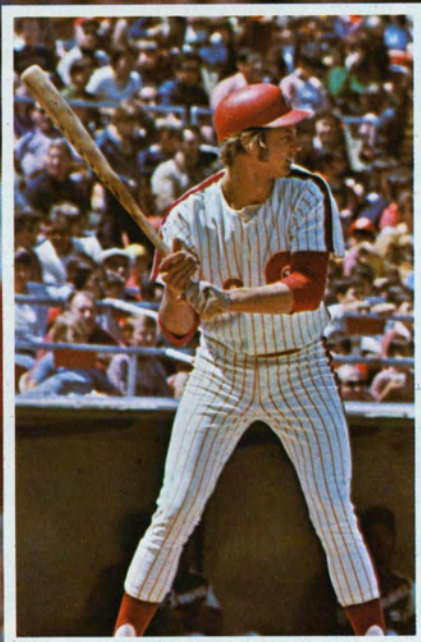

Paul Owens has always believed in having a bench. "Good teams win because they have depth," he's said many times. When he dealt Wayne Twitchell and Tim Blackwell to the Expos for catcher Barry Foote and Pitcher Dan Warthen, Owens said, "With the addition of Foote, we now have the strongest catching in the league. He has one of the finest arms. You have to stop the other teams from running. It's important to beat the clubs who are winning that way." Evidence of his strong arm is the fact he led all catchers in the N.L. with 83 assists in his rookie season, back in 1974, when he also hit .262 with 11 homers and 60 RBI, as Montreal's No. 1 catcher.

L.C.

OK trivia buffs. Who's the only pitcher in baseball to hit more than one home run the past two seasons? That's right, our very own Larry Christenson. The big, blond righthander hit both his 1976 home runs off Mickey Lolich in one of the most important games of the season. The Phillies were on the skids in September having lost eight straight when the 23-year-old Christenson picked the club off the ground with a great pitching performance and his 2 HR which beat the Mets and got the Phils pennant express rolling again.

Larry Christenson

RON

Ron Reed looks like he should be an NBA forward which is exactly what he was back in the late 60's when he was hauling down rebounds for the Detroit Pistons. When the Phillies made the deal with St. Louis for Reed, they thought they were getting another starting pitcher. However, the 6' 6" righthander was so effective coming out of the bullpen early in the season, that Danny Ozark left him there almost all year. Ron responded with eight wins and a club high 14 saves, teaming with Tug McGraw and Gene Garber for one of baseball's best bullpens.

Ron Reed

BREW

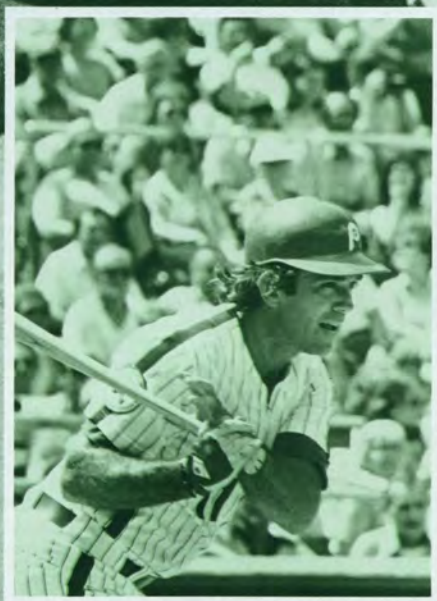

Spring training is the time of the year when observers try not to get too excited about a good performance nor too despondent over a poor one. However, every time an unknown righthander named Warren Brusstar took the mound, his sinking fastball kept getting hitters out and his status continued to grow. So much that veterans like Greg Luzinski were remarking how "that kid has great stuff and is a tremendous competitor. He has a chance to be a great relief pitcher." Warren was one of the final cuts of the spring, but when the Phillies had some early season problems, he was recalled from the minors and has been a big part of Danny Ozark's bullpen ever since.

Warren Brusstar

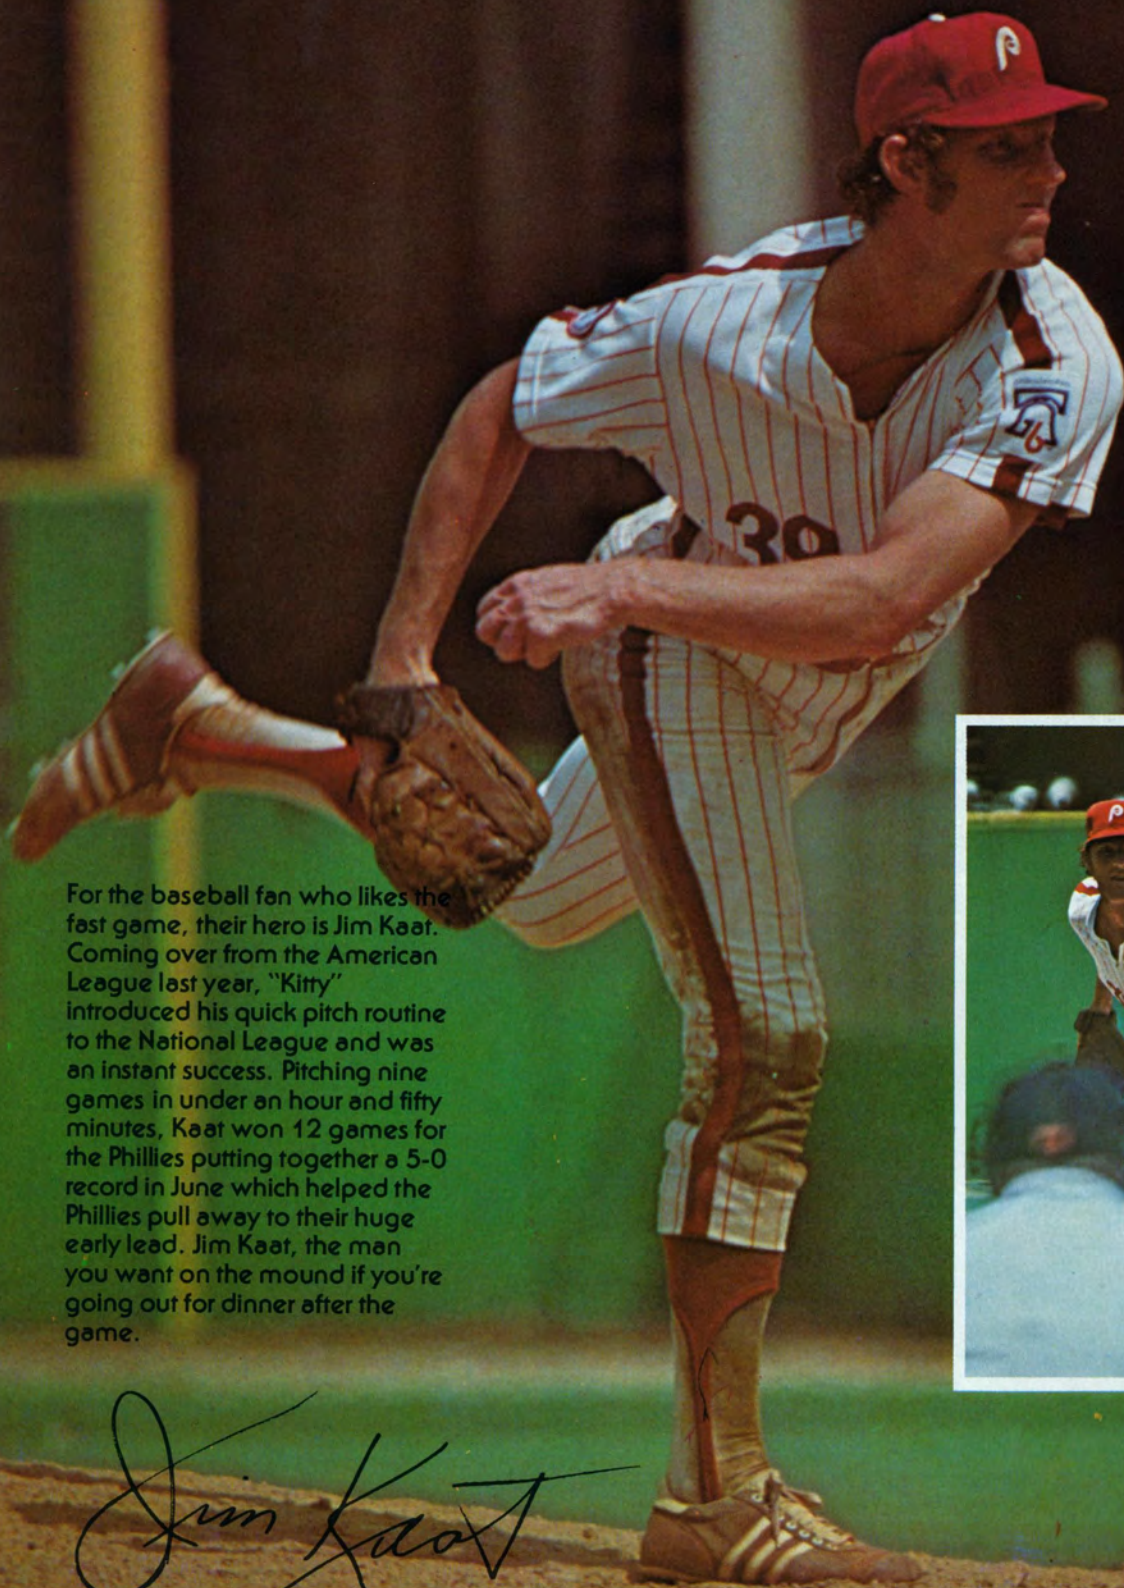

TIMMY

There are a lot of intangibles that go into building a winning team. One of them is having veteran players who know how to win. When the Phillies were going through that long losing streak last September, one of the coolest heads on the team belonged to Tim McCarver. Timmy had been in pennant races before and he was instrumental in keeping a lot of players from losing perspective of the enviable position they enjoyed. He reigns as team jester, serves as Steve Carlton's catcher, and is a very important member of the Phillies.

Tim McCarver

KITTY

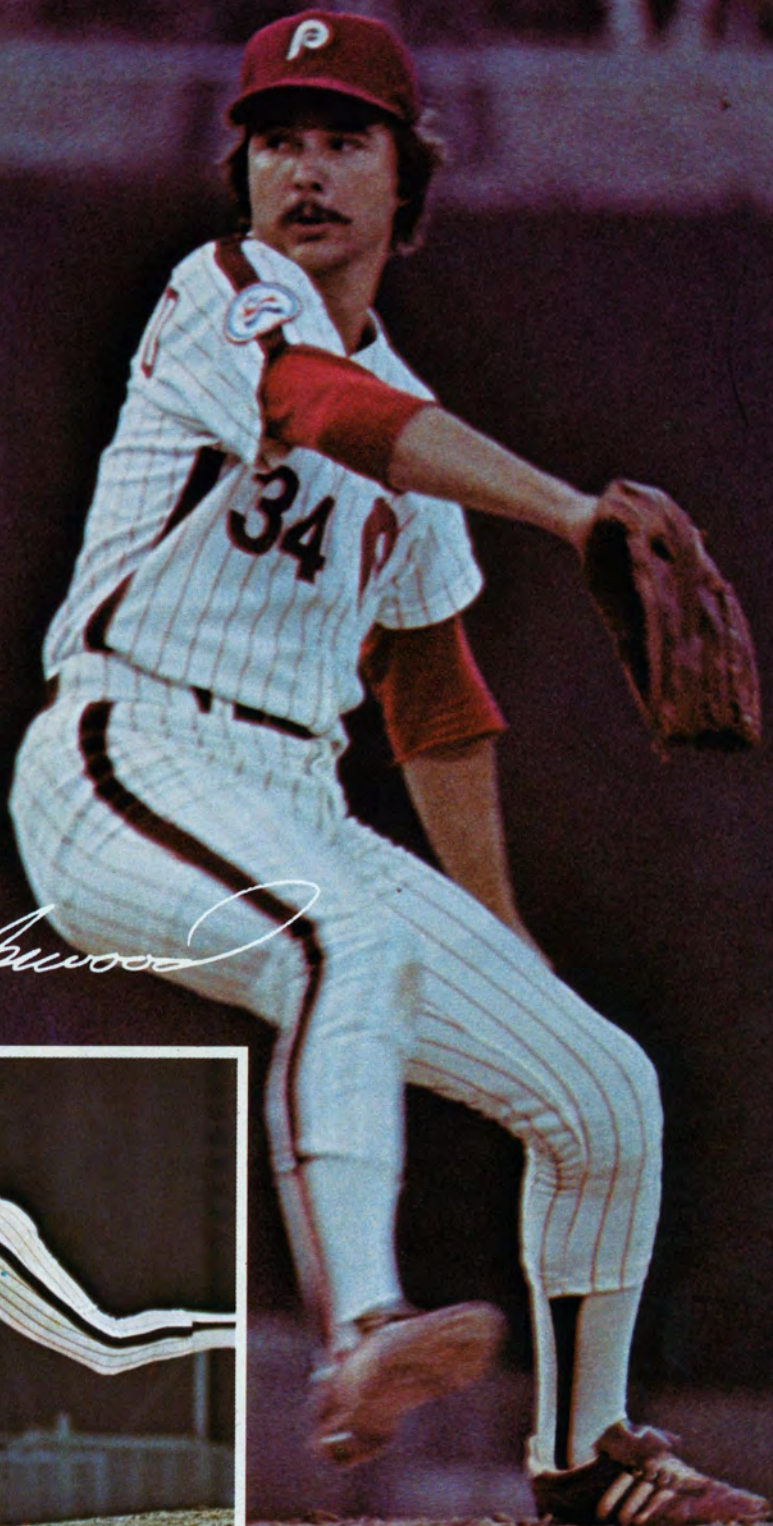

For the baseball fan who likes the fast game, their hero is Jim Kaat. Coming over from the American League last year, "Kitty" introduced his quick pitch routine to the National League and was an instant success. Pitching nine games in under an hour and fifty minutes, Kaat won 12 games for the Phillies putting together a 5-0 record in June which helped the Phillies pull away to their huge early lead. Jim Kaat, the man you want on the mound if you're going out for dinner after the game.

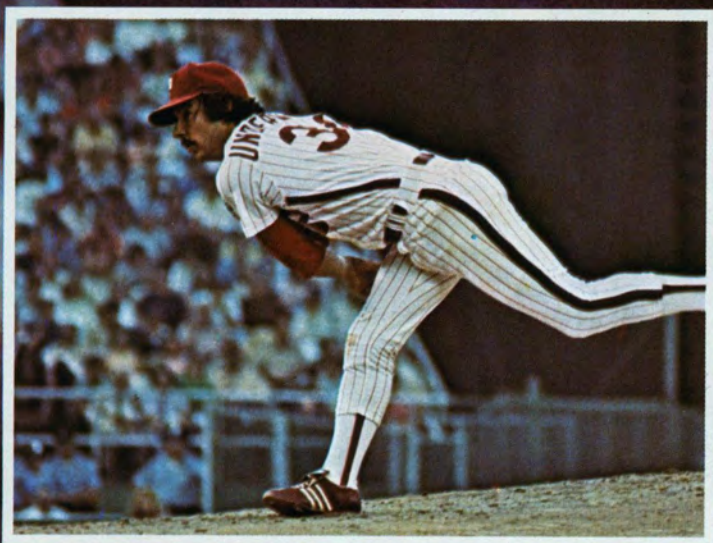

Jim Kaat

UNDERDOG

Take a look at the Phillies pitching roster and try to guess the name of the only pitcher never to have experienced a losing season in neither the minor nor major leagues. Well, since the Phillies made Tom Underwood their number two draft pick in 1972, the Kokomo, Indiana, native has put together a 27-12 minor league mark and a record of 25-18 in the majors including 10 wins last year. For those of you who guessed Tom Underwood, go to the head of the class.

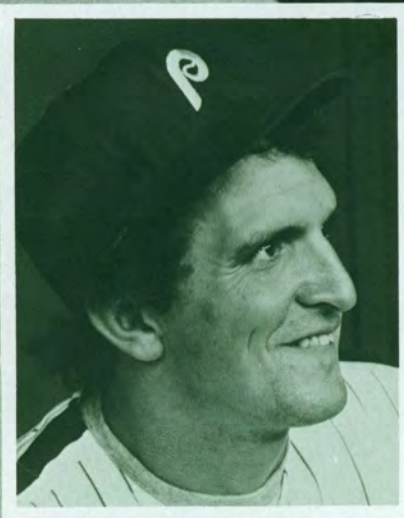

Tom Underwood

DAN

There are curve balls, sliders, screwballs, changes, fork balls, and knuckleballs. But, there's no substitute for the old-faithful, No. 1 pitch—Mr. Fastball. When scouts go assessing young pitching prospects, they start with the arm and the fastball. Both of these ingredients came to the Phillies in the person of Dan Warthen, a 24-year-old lefthander acquired in the mid-season trade with Montreal. "Warthen has a very good arm," says Paul Owens. "He's young and a little wild but he's not far away from being a top major league pitcher." The Expos picked Warthen No. 1 back in 1971 out of North High School in Omaha, Neb., where he was an outstanding all-around athlete. Warthen turned down baseball and football offers from Nebraska, USC, UCLA, and Michigan to sign a baseball contract.

DANEY

Anytime you add a guy to your team that has hit 43 home runs in a big league season, then it has to be viewed as a plus. So when Dave Johnson, the former Baltimore Oriole and Atlanta Braves came to Paul Owens and said he wanted to play for Philadelphia this year, the Phillies decided to give him a look. Dave has played the last two seasons in Japan, but feels he still can play baseball, American style. Able to play either first or second, Dave Johnson could be a valuable addition to the 1977 Phillies.

Dave Johnson

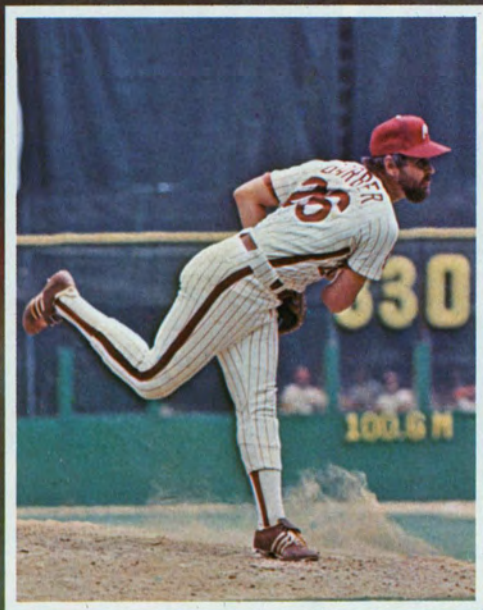

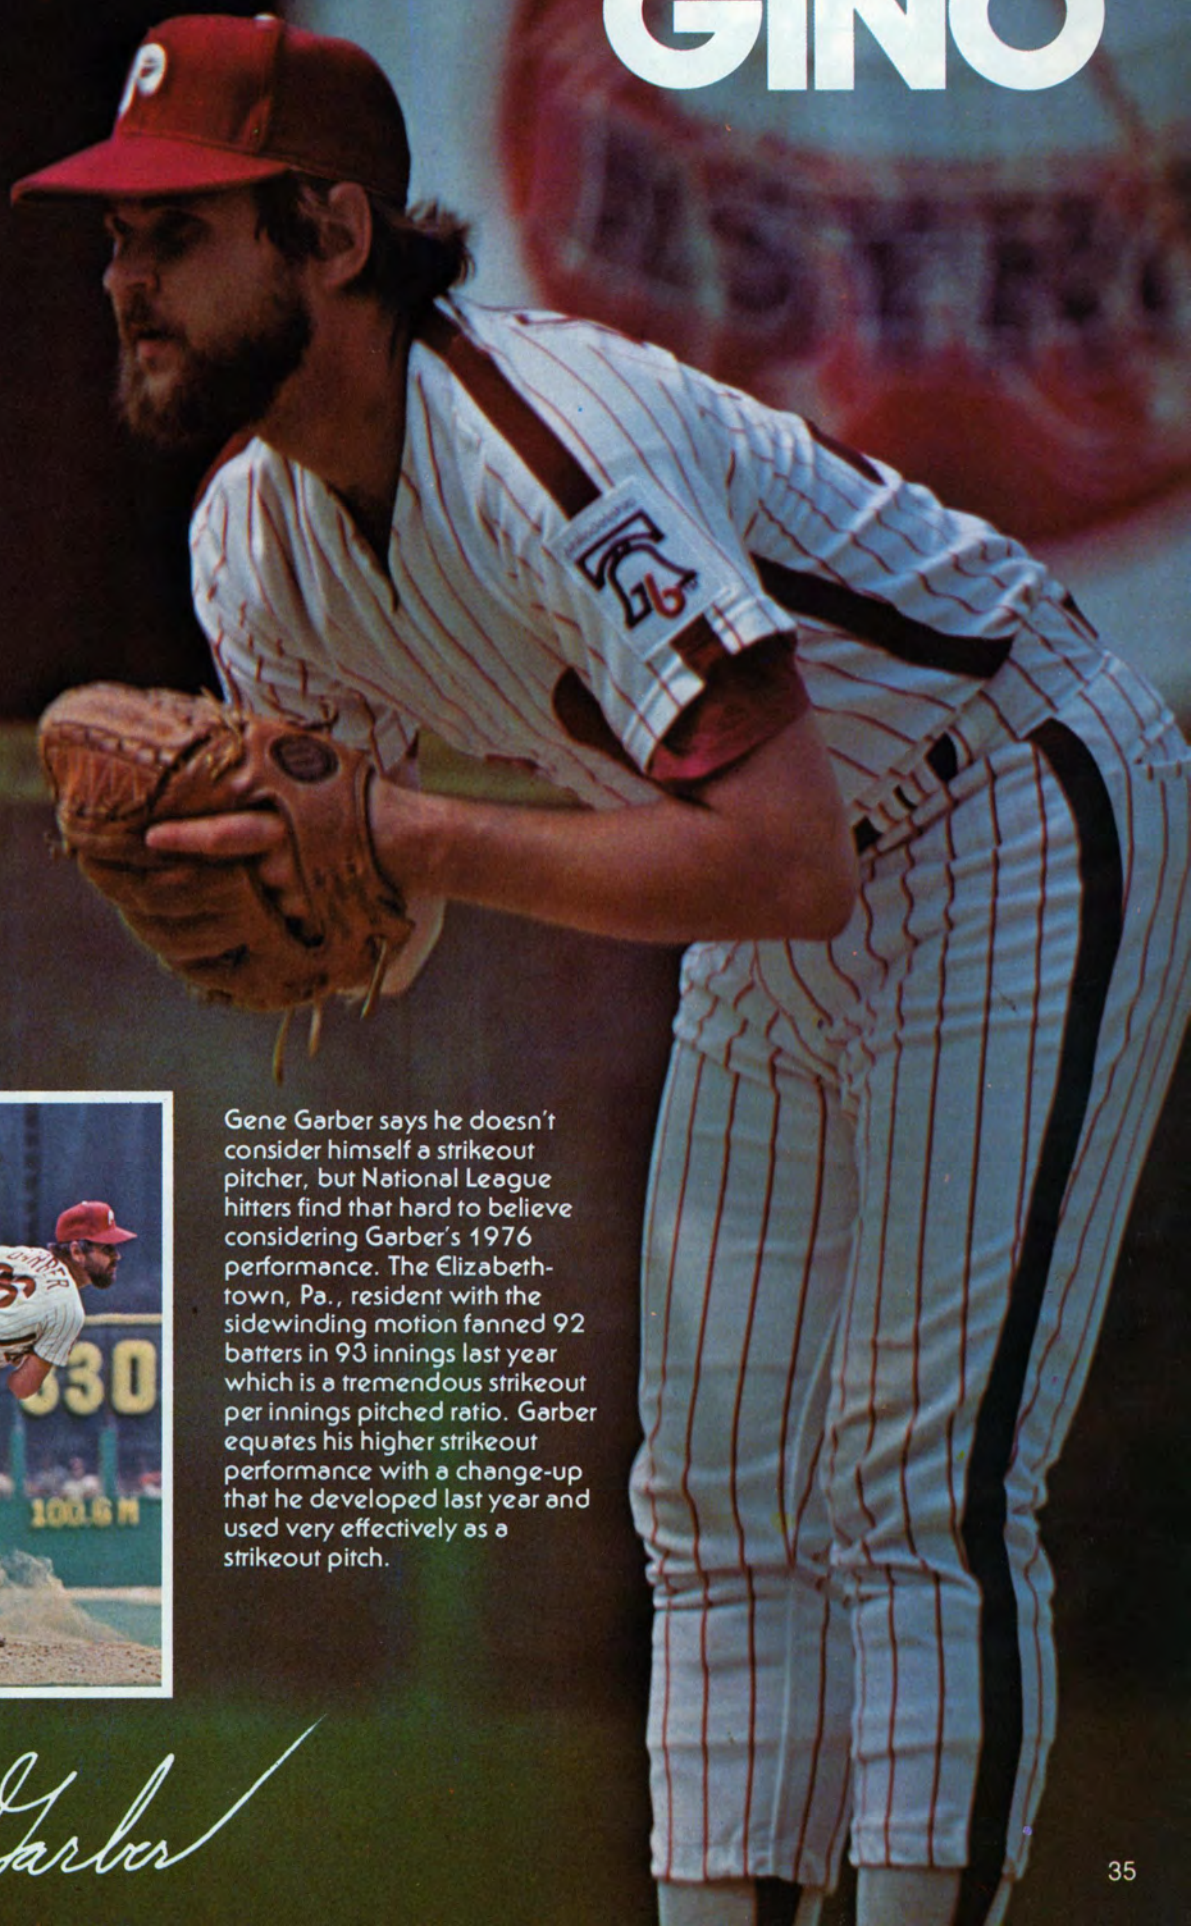

TUGGER

It was widely regarded last year that in Ron Reed, Gene Garber and Tug McGraw, the Phillies had one of baseball's best bullpens. McGraw has the perfect make-up for a relief man. Able to pitch several days in a row, cool under pressure and possessing a trick pitch, his screwball, Tug won seven games and picked up 11 saves and saved some of his best work for the pressure-packed month of September. One of baseball's best known flakes, McGraw also contributes by keeping things loose on and off the field.

Tug McGraw

GINO

Gene Garber says he doesn't consider himself a strikeout pitcher, but National League hitters find that hard to believe considering Garber's 1976 performance. The Elizabethtown, Pa., resident with the sidwinding motion fanned 92 batters in 93 innings last year which is a tremendous strikeout per innings pitched ratio. Garber equates his higher strikeout performance with a change-up that he developed last year and used very effectively as a strikeout pitch.

Gene Garber

RANDY

Randy Lerch is a precocious young man who could have suffered some mental scars by his major league debut in 1975 except that he really believes in his ability. Lerch came into a game at Wrigley Field in September that year and served up a grand slam home run to Tim Hosley. But the young lefty pitched well later in the season, then had a fine year last season at Oklahoma City and is a strong contender to make the Phillies pitching staff this year.

A RARE DAY IN APRIL

by Mike Schmidt

Chicago, April 17, 1976, a day not only Mike Schmidt but also the entire Philadelphia Phillie team will remember.

It started out with the aggravation of being dropped to the sixth spot in the batting order after struggling with my first twelve or so at bats and the Phillies 1-3 record up to that point. A talk before the game with Dick Allen helped to ease the mental tension and put things in a proper perspective. He reminded me that I was healthy, playing baseball in the major leagues, and that it was a beautiful day. He and I left the clubhouse and Dick said, "Lets have some fun today," and oh, how we did.

The game started and it seemed for the most part that the fun ended real quick. Before we knew it, we were down 12-1. But I believe that score was a blessing in disguise because I think we all relaxed and decided to take some live batting practice.

My first at bat off Rick Reuschel was a weak fly ball to center. The second time up I hit a sharp single to left and it seemed like Reuschel had the same idea as we did. Just let them hit the ball because there's no way that they can catch us in five innings.

Fireworks Start

Then the fireworks started, and little did I know what was to come. My third at bat was a home run to the bleacher burn section in left in the 5th and the score now was 12-4. Reuschel was still the pitcher my 4th time up and I homered to left in the 7th to make it 13-7.

The 5th time around Mike Garman was on the mound and we had two guys on base. I hit my best bolt to center on an outside fast ball climaxing a five-run inning for us and making the score 13-12.

It was my third straight home run and I was sure now that we were going to win the game. I couldn't believe what was happening to me, but I decided to think about that later and concentrate on winning.

In the top of the ninth, Bob Boone led off with a home run to tie the game at 13 and we scored two more and went ahead 15-13. However, the Cubs came back and tied it at 15 with two in the ninth to send the game into extra innings.

Allen led off our 10th with a walk off Darold Knowles and Rick's brother, Paul Reuschel, came into the game. The walk put home run number four completely out of my mind because I was just trying to make contact, maybe get a single and move Dick to third where he could score on a fly ball.

"Basket" Homer

The five previous at bats had put my confidence at an all-time high. Paul Reuschel tried to come inside on me and I had what I thought was my best swing of the day. The ball was a low liner that ended up in the basket just above the ivy for my fourth home run in a row and a 17-15 lead for us.

At that point, I don't know what went through my mind, but I know what I would like to have done. How about walking around the bases to a standing ovation, stopping halfway to home to thank Billy DeMars for the extra batting practice the day before, go on to home plate and shake the hand of the guy who earlier told me to go out and have some fun then slowly walk to the dugout and look at the Cub's dugout and yell, "We're the Phillies and we're for real."

Of course, none of this happened. We won the game 18-16 and went into the clubhouse carrying with us a feeling that would start us on our way to 99 more wins and the Eastern Division title. Even through our September slump, we thought back to this game to recall just how good we really were.

There were many phone calls and interviews in the weeks following the game but the length of the season and the nature of the game itself will make you forget the past.

Personally though, I will never forget, Saturday afternoon, April 17, 1976, Wrigley Field, Chicago. It was a day to remember.

Display on Mike Schmidt in "Baseball Today" Room at Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y. The bat (left) is the one he used to hit a record-tying four consecutive home runs in a game in Chicago last year.

Since the first pitch was thrown in baseball 101 years ago, there have been just 10 players who've hit four home runs in one game—Robert Lowe, Eddie Delahanty (Phillies), Lou Gehrig, Chuck Klein (Phillies), Pat Seerey, Gil Hodges, Joe Adcock, Rocky Colavito, Willie Mays and Mike Schmidt. □ That's quite an elite group. But, when Mike Schmidt stepped on home plate for the fourth time last April 17th, he joined an even more exclusive group. □ "Schmitt" became only the fourth player in all of baseball history to hit FOUR CONSECUTIVE homers in a game and the first National Leaguer to do it in 82 years. □ Here's a look at the three others and how they did it.

ROBERT LOWE

Boston, May 30, 1894—A second baseman and lead-off batter for Boston, Lowe went hitless in first game of a morning/afternoon Declaration Day doubleheader. Story has it, Lowe had fish for lunch between games at the North Boston Railroad station. Whether the lunch provided extra nourishment, no one knows but he did homer four times in the second game, twice in the 3rd inning, once in the 5th and again in the 7th. Crowd of Philadelphia, June 3, 1932—Great Yankee first baseman homered in 1st, 4th and 5th innings off George Earnshaw and 7th inning off Roy Mahaffey at Shibe Park. Homer in the fifth followed solo blasts by Earle Combs and Babe Ruth in a typical Yankee power display. Yankees won, 20-13, over Philadelphia Athletics.

LOU GEHRIG

ROCKY COLAVITO

Baltimore, June 10, 1959—Since Memorial Stadium opened its doors to baseball in 1954, no team ever hit three homers in one game in the big ball park. But, the Cleveland Indians rightfielder from Temple, Pa., hit four as the Baltimore Orioles were beaten, 11-8. Colavito's string included one in the 3rd inning (off Jerry Walker); 5th and 6th innings (Arnold Portocarrero) and 9th inning (Ernie Johnson).

8,000 showered silver dollars on the field as he circled the bases on his historic home run. He reportedly picked up $160.00 Boston won, 20-11, over Cincinnati, who used only one pitcher, Elton Chamberlain. In addition to being the first player to belt four straight, Lowe's the only player to perform the trick in his home park.

VET VISITORS

NEW YORK METS

Jon Matlack—27-year-old lefthander out of West Chester, Pa., high school ball who teams with Jerry Koosman to give the Mets a potent 1-2 pitching punch.

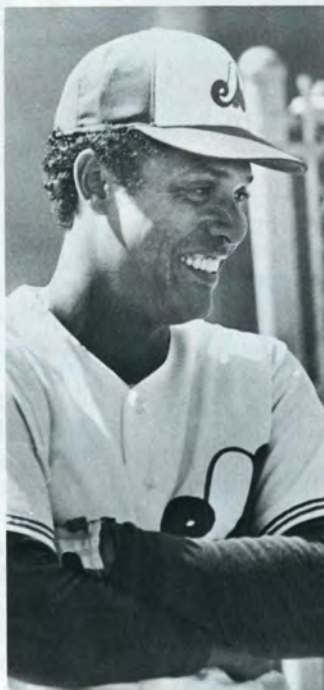

John Milner—Mets' RBI leader who led National League with three grand slams a year ago.

MONTREAL EXPOS

Dave Cash—Ex-Phil second baseman now wearing familiar #30 in the uniform of the Montreal Expos.

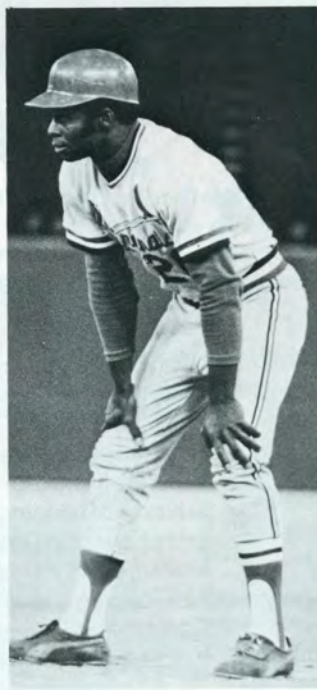

Tony Perez—Ex-Cincinnati slugger, the majors' top RBI man over the last 10 years.

ST. LOUIS CARDINALS

Ted Simmons—Heart of the St. Louis attack is Ted Simmons, owner of .297 lifetime average, sixth best among N.L. players.

Lou Brock—National League's greatest base stealer. Began 1977 with 865 steals with Max Carey's 738 a distant second.

PITTSBURGH PIRATES

Rich Gossage and Terry Forster—Seeking to bolster their bullpen, the Pirates traded for a pair of White Sox relievers. Gossage was A.L. Fireman of the Year in 1975; Forster gained similar honors the previous season.

CHICAGO CUBS

Bobby Murcer—Ex-Giant now with Cubs where he's expected to better 17.4 home run average by playing in friendly Wrigley Field.

Jerry Morales—Departed Bill Madlock and Rick Monday were considered the heart of Cubs lineup but Jerry Morales has been Chicago's top RBI producer for the last two years.

CINCINNATI REDS

Joe Morgan—N.L.'s MVP the last two years, only the second player in league history to accomplish such honors.

Pete Rose—.273, .269, .312, .313, .301, .335, .348, .316, .304, .307, .338, .284, .317, .323 in his career, baseball's greatest switch hitter ever.

SAN FRANCISCO GIANTS

John (The Count)

Montefusco—One of the most colorful characters and one of the premier pitchers in baseball.

Bill Madlock—The 268th player drafted eight years ago who won batting titles last two seasons before being traded by Cubs to Giants.

LOS ANGELES DODGERS

Steve Garvey—.300 hitter ('73-74-75-76); All-Star first baseman ('74-75-76); Gold Glove Winner ('74-75-76).

Ron Cey—#1 power man for Dodgers, averaging over 20 homers a year since becoming a fixture at third base in 1973.

SAN DIEGO

Gene Tenace—Addition of Gene Tenace (22 homers) and George Hendrick (25) expected to bolster middle of Padres' lineup.

Rollie Fingers—Veteran reliever joins John McNamara's bullpen which was in good shape with 1976 Rookie Of The Year Butch Metzger.

HOUSTON ASTROS

Cesar Cedeno—Power (121 homers), speed (313 stolen bases) and defense (5 Gold Gloves) in just seven seasons.

Joe Ferguson—Looking for an every-day catcher and righthanded power hitter, Astros swung a deal with St. Louis for Joe Ferguson, who hit 25 homers for 1973 Dodgers.

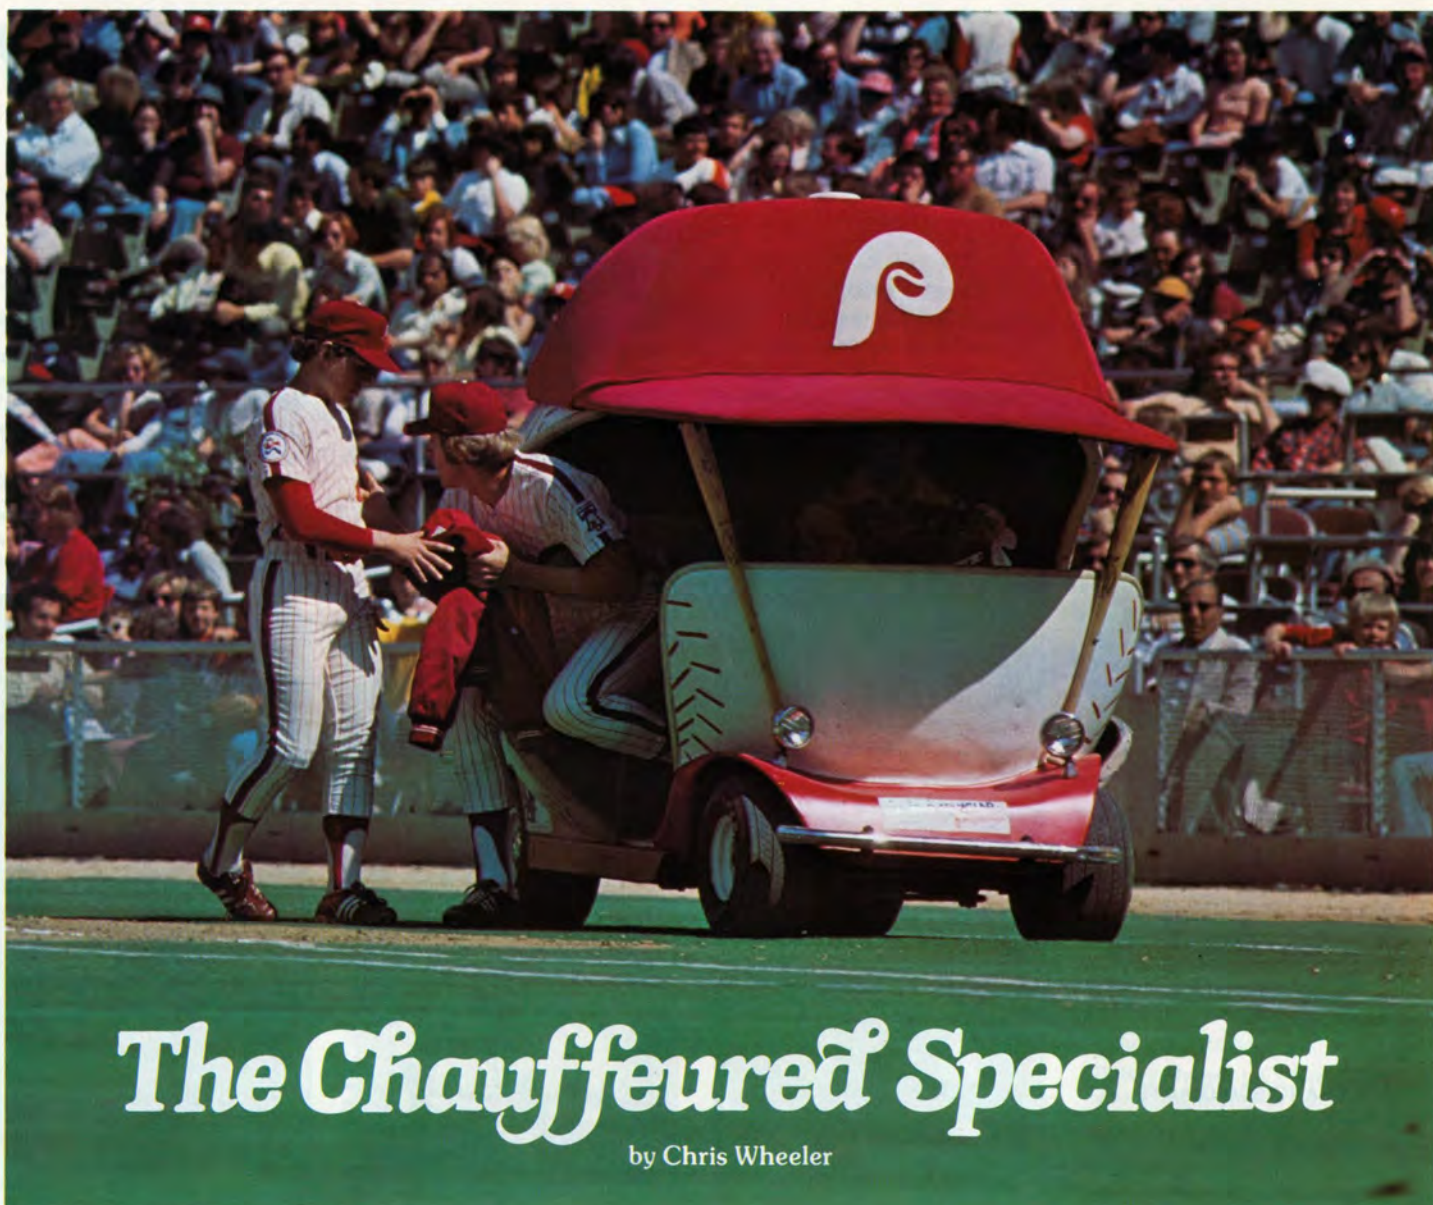

ATLANTA BRAVES

Willie Montanez—One of Philadelphia's all-time favorites.

Andy Messersmith—Backbone of Atlanta's pitching staff, teaming with Phil Niekro and Dick Ruthven to form a tough trio of righthanders.

The Chauffeured Specialist

by Chris Wheeler

The pre-game ritual of a baseball team rarely varies. Some players sit at their lockers signing baseballs or reading mail. Others are sprawled across training tables trying to catch the nap denied them earlier in the day by a crying infant or a ringing doorbell.

Then there are the card players, a group of guys who find this method of diversion the surest way to defeat the monotony of waiting for the ballgame to start.

One afternoon, Ron Schueler, Gene Garber, Jim Kaat and Terry Harmon were engaged in a game of "hearts" when the phone rang in the clubhouse. Before anyone could reach it, Schueler blurted out, "Get Garber up."

To the untrained ear, the comment would have gone by unnoticed. But to those who make their living sitting in a remote area of a ballpark called the bullpen, the ring of a telephone is a way of life.

The sound means that a pitcher is in trouble and the manager needs to get a fresh arm ready in case he needs to make a move. The only question is who the manager will want.

Is he calling for the strikeout pitcher to get him out of a jam fast? Does he want a pitcher known for throwing ground balls to get an inning-ending double play? Or will he call for the long man who hopefully will get out of the jam, then stay in for five innings and hold the opposition at bay while his club tries to play catch-up.

Yes, the bullpen has become an area of specialists. It's a place where a manager can turn and have a choice of a pitcher whose skills in a particular phase of the game have made him distinct.

Nowadays, relief pitchers are valuable commodities, men who command large salaries and can mean the difference between a winning and losing franchise. But it wasn't always that way.

"I can remember when I first broke into baseball, the guys in the bullpen were the rejects," says two-time National League batting champion Richie Ashburn. "They were the pitchers who couldn't make it as a starter. If you were in the bullpen, you were an outcast, the place had a stigma attached to it."

Then along came a big righthander named Casimir James Konstanty. He was 33 years old in 1950, a real greybeard on a group of youngsters destined to win the National League pennant and go down in history as the Whiz Kids.

Konstanty first came to the big leagues in 1944 when he pitched for the Cincinnati Reds. His best season had been 1949 with the Phillies when he was 9-5 with a 3.25 ERA.

But in 1950 when the Phillies beat the Brooklyn Dodgers for the NL championship, Jim Konstanty appeared in a record 74 games, all in relief, was 16-7, and compiled a 2.66 ERA with 22 saves.

He won the league MVP for his fantastic season that year over big names like Musial, Snider, Campanella, Sauer, etc. As a result, the men who had toiled long and hard in the obscurity of the bullpen suddenly had credibility.

One of them had made it, he was the MVP of the entire league. A pitcher who did not start but came into the game in the late innings. There no longer was shame attached to the profession. The relief pitcher had arrived and the game would never be the same.

There would be others to gain glory out of the bullpen in the '50's, but the next man to explode on the scene was a little righthander named Elroy Face who won 18 games in relief for the 1959 Pittsburgh Pirates. Face won 10 games and picked up 24 saves the following year as the Pirates marched to the National League championship.

The Cy Young award, presented to the best pitcher in baseball, was instituted in 1956, but it wasn't until 1974 that a reliever won the award. Rubber-armed Mike Marshall appeared in a record 106 games that year, leading the Dodgers into the World Series as he won 15 and saved 21.

Konstanty, Face, Marshall, all great relievers who have enjoyed spectacular success. Then there are the present day stars like McGraw, Reed, Garber! What makes them effective? Why are they relief pitchers?

Says Ashburn about Konstanty, "Jim was the most arrogant, cocky individual to ever step on a mound. All he had was a little sinker, a decent slider, and a palm ball, but he had the guts of a burglar. He felt he could get anybody out and he was at his best under pressure."

Pressure, the word most heard when discussing relievers. Unlike a starter who can afford to make a mistake, a bullpen ace finds himself thrust into situations with the game on the line and no margin for error.

One time New York phenom Tug McGraw has been one of baseball's premier relievers for a number of years. Like many of his counterparts, he began his career as a starter, but for a variety of reasons, wound up in the bullpen. Tug has that confident swagger necessary to face the day-to-day tensions that confront the late inning man.

"Certainly I feel the pressure," says McGraw. "I'm only human. But I'm not intimidated by pressure and I think that's because of the nature of my job. There's always pressure on you as a relief pitcher. Sometimes when I'm in the bullpen anticipating a situation in a ballgame, the phone will ring and I'll jump. That's how wound up you can get!"

Ron Reed might be called the reluctant reliever. While most pitchers are merely unhappy to leave a starting job and head for the pen, Reed was downright miserable.

Acquired by the Phillies from the Cardinals for outfielder Mike Anderson in the winter of 1975, Reed was told he fit into the Phillies starting rotation plans quite well. However, Jim Lonborg recovered from his shoulder problems of the previous season, and the Phillies had another newly acquired pitcher, Jim Kaat, penciled in as a starter, so Reed found himself in the bullpen.

"I was close to going to Paul Owens and asking him to trade me at one point last year," says Reed looking back on the early part of 1976. "But Danny Ozark told me I'd be contributing before long, so I just kept in shape and tried not to go nuts out there."

"I'd be lying if I said it wasn't a heckuva adjustment for me," says the former basketball forward who saw playing time for the Detroit Pistons in the NBA between 1965 and 1967. "I had always been a starter. I'd learned to pace myself in a game and gotten into a pattern of throwing a lot of slow stuff. Now when I came into a game, they told me to just rear back and let it go."

"It was a whole new scene for me," says Reed. "But after I got out there a few times, did the job, then saw the reaction of my teammates and realized that what I was doing was important, well, I won't say I like being a reliever, but now I can handle the whole thing mentally."

Gene Garber was a castoff by the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Kansas City Royals. Salvaged by Paul Owens in 1974, he's now one of the league's best out of the bullpen.

"I'm a great believer in positive thinking," says the Elizabethtown, Pa., native. "I've gotten so that I like to try and see the exact image of the way I want to pitch to a hitter. I try to see me getting him out."

Garber says he also spends a lot of time in the bullpen pitching to different areas. "The key is having a catcher like Tim Blackwell who was with us last year. We work on spots and setting up hitters like we would in a game. When I'm warming up, I visualize a batter and pitch like I'm in a game."

"That way when I get the call and come into the game, I don't feel like I'm coming in cold. Then I think I have the advantage over the batter."

So, the bullpen has come full cycle from the time it was a place of exile to its present status as the focal point for the eventual outcome of many baseball games.

Yes, the men who sit out there, night after night, day after day, are a different brand of athlete. Unlike an everyday player who knows his name will be on the lineup card, or a starting pitcher who goes to the mound every fourth or fifth day, the relief pitcher's world is one of uncertainty.

It's a very personal world that he inhabits with the same group of men for 162 games. A world filled with laughter, punctuated by loneliness, wrought with tension.

A world only several feet from the action of the game, but in reality, miles away for these men who know that their fate and that of their teammates is just a phone call away.

A Hitters' Ball Park

Veterans Stadium is a hitters' ball park. If there are any doubts, just check the home run figures for National League parks since the Vet's first game six years ago.

During that period of time, 759 homers (Phils 390, opposition 369) have been hit at the Vet. Only Atlanta Stadium (894) and Wrigley Field (847) can do better.

When it comes to tape measure shots, there's quite a shocking difference between righthanded and lefthanded hitters. 19 homers have been hit into the left-field upper deck (500 level), while only one has traveled that far in right field. The diagram below lists the six longest blasts at the Vet.

Super Group Plans

Baseball is more fun to watch as a group and Phillies' baseball in 1977 promises to be the most fun ever. Civic clubs, church organizations, youth groups, neighborhood groups and groups of all kinds are invited to take advantage of our special group ticket plans. Exciting baseball is the name of the game at the Vet. Make sure your group is a part of the action in 1977.

Reservations for 25 or more are available starting in specific group sections on all levels. Field box seats on the 200 level at $5.00, terrace and loge box seats at $4.50, and 600 level reserved seats at $3.50.

PICNIC PATIO: A player's eye view of the game in seats so close to the field we recommend you bring your glove.

$6.00 per person entitles you to bring your own picnic and use our tables to eat. Deluxe seating for your group directly in front of the picnic tables, just inches from the field.

Minimum 25 or more, and maximum 120. Seating available in both left and right field. An unrefundable $25.00 deposit is required to insure each group reservation.

— A chicken-in-the-basket meal is available by calling Nilon Brothers directly at 755-9595 Mon. thru Fri., between 9:30 and 4:30.

GRAND SLAM ROOM: $17.50 per person. The ultimate in group entertainment. The equivalent of a Group Super Box. An ideal location just over first base on the exclusive Super Box (400) level. Minimum 40—Maximum 60.

If a Phillies player hits a "grand slam" while your group is at the game, you win complimentary box seat tickets for the entire group to a future Phillies game.

BULL PEN ROOM: $17.50 per person. Includes everything the Grand Slam Room offers and is located above the Phillies "Bull Pen" on the Super Box (400) level, directly next to the Stadium Club in right field. Minimum 40—Maximum 110.

If a Phillies relief pitcher gets the win out of the Bull Pen while your group is at the game, you win complimentary reserve seat tickets for the entire group to a future Phillies game.

BOTH GRAND SLAM & BULL PEN ROOMS INCLUDE:

1. An appetizing buffet featuring Barbecued Spare Ribs and Honey-dipped Fried Chicken, baked beans, french-fried potatoes, beets, cole slaw, potato salad, rolls & butter, ice cream and coffee.
2. Your own private cash bar with bartender. Cocktails @ $1.50 & beer @ $1.00. Available by request only.
3. A souvenir Phillies beer mug, presented by a member of our "Hot Pants Patrol."
4. Special V.I.P. parking free for your bus, near the Stadium Club entrance.
5. Televisions in the room to allow you to see the stop action and instant replays on all televised games.

— Upon placement of your order for the Grand Slam & Bull Pen an unrefundable $25.00—deposit is required.

— All groups interested in dining at the Stadium Club call 755-9595, Mon. thru Fri., between 9:30 and 4:30. Menus available upon request. Write Stadium Club, Veterans Stadium, Broad Street and Pattison Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa. 19148.

TO ORDER

1. To set up a Group outing, call (215) 463-5000 or write:
Phillies Group Sales, P. O. Box 7575, Phila., Pa. 19101
2. Select the date or dates you want. Take advantage of Group Discount Nights, and Phillies Gift Days. (No discount on Grand Slam Room, Bull Pen or Picnic Area.)
3. Estimate the number in your Group, and notify the Phillies of the plan you want.
4. After scheduling your dates, forward your check or money order to "The Phillies" at least TWO WEEKS prior to the date of the game.
5. Your tickets will be mailed to you immediately upon receipt of payment. REFUNDS will be made on all unused tickets that are returned at least 7 days prior to the date of the game.

SOME HELPFUL DEFINITIONS

GROUP A group consists of 25 or more people.

SEATING Special group sections are reserved for every game—to guarantee that your group will be seated together.

ORDERING Order early. Seats for each game are assigned upon receipt of the order.

SCOREBOARD All groups are entitled to have their names in lights on the animated scoreboard.

DISCOUNTS There is no discount on Grand Slam Room, Bull Pen Room or Picnic Area tickets. All box and reserved seats are reduced $1.00 on Group Nights (see "G" on schedule) for a group of 25 or more.

REFUNDS No refunds on the day of game. Refunds on unused tickets will be given only if the tickets are returned at least 7 days prior to the date of the game.

RAIN In case of rain, call the Phillies inclement weather number: (215) 463-5300. In the event of a rain-out, you can return your tickets by mail and exchange them for another date, or receive a full refund for each ticket returned.
